UUCE Minister

Our UUCE Covenant of Right Relations speaks directly to the human predicament, as the folk song says, that “we are made of dreams and bones.” We have a vision of a peaceable community. We also have a sacred promise to check ourselves and take steps to restore harmony. As we live in covenant, we contribute a voice of faith, and ways to transform ourselves and serve the world.

Our predicament can be experienced as suffering, and that’s our theme for the month. Myriad are the ways humankind has met the challenge, made meaning of it, and risen to the challenges. Let’s look at those together.

February 5th “Giving Until It Feels Good” Ours is the Free Church tradition. The price of independence is that each UU congregation supports itself. Thus the annual financial appeal. This year Cottage Meetings will invite everyone to attend a small gathering. The times call upon each and every one of us -- and every UU congregation -- to strengthen one another.

February 12th “Van Gogh’s Café” What are the stories we tell? What are the stories we hear? And why is this more important now than ever? Guest preacher the Rev. Keith Kron is Director of Ministerial Transitions at the Unitarian Universalist Association.

February 19th Andy Chirch

February 26th “Holding One Another” This service, the day after our Annual District Assembly, will reflect on the deep connections between Unitarian Universalists, and our mutual support through good times and bad.

District Assembly February 25th

UUs from Oregon, Washington, Alaska and even a bit of Idaho are coming here to Eugene! This Saturday in late February will be a remarkable and heartfelt day. Just to gather, sing, and feel the comfort and strength from being together is a delight. And, the three candidates running for President of the Unitarian Universalist Association, women all, will be here for a two-hour forum. Fabulous food provided by Lane Community College for continental breakfast, lunch and snacks! And an afternoon of workshops. It costs $75 for the day.

Do contact coordinators Emmet Band, Poppi Lockridge or Rev Sydney to volunteer help: we need home hospitality, on-site friendliness, car drivers and sound booth assistance.

The 2017 PNWD District Assembly will be held at The UU Church in Eugene Oregon, on February 25. Join your fellow Pacific Northwest Unitarian Universalists in worship, workshops, fellowship, and the important business of the district. The highlight of the day will be the UUA Presidential Candidates Forum. UUA Moderator Jim Key will facilitate the forum and all three candidates will be present: Rev. Susan Frederick-Gray, Rev. Alison Miller, and Rev. Jeanne Pupke. This is your opportunity to meet and hear the candidates before the June election at UUA General Assembly in New Orleans.

UUCE Minister

These turbulent traumatic times call for resilience, restoration and resistance. We are up to the task, if we take it together with people of good will throughout the country and the world. When I was speaking at Kesey Square as part of the Interfaith event on Inauguration Day, it struck me that now more than ever, the progressive voice in religion must be heard in the public square. Our faith proclaims the worth and dignity of every person. We affirm the interdependent web of all existence and cherish our earth, water and air. We work for justice, and for peaceful cooperative co-existence.

The March on January 21st filled my heart: I felt uplifted to see so many different people with different interests coming together in such large numbers, united in the commitment to larger principles. Buoyed and awed, and also sobered by the enormity of the task ahead of us. I am reading material on Survivance, and understanding that this is a time in which we must take very good care of ourselves and one another – to stay healthy in body, strong in spirit and determined in mind.

Just by being who we are, we represent a resilient commitment to vital values. From our UU spiritual and religious vantage, we are called to affirm and promote principles of compassion and justice foundational to our nation and to world community. The times ask us to resist, and restore. We can do this. We must.

January 29th Gretchen Miller and Rev. Sydney inquired into ways to live honorable lives.

Intern Minister Message

Do you suffer?

Let me rephrase that. Perhaps a better question is, “From what do you suffer?” I believe that part of the human experience is to suffer. Hopefully that suffering is only occasional, and hopefully it is offset by concomitant moments of joy.

I’m struck, of late, by the power of this community to lift itself up and to heal – both inside and out; in short, to ease suffering. Well my friend, now is a time when we are called by our world to step up and be healers.

One of the hallmark traits of Unitarian Universalism is a bias toward action. I remember hearing a Unitarian Universalist slogan about fifteen years ago: “Deeds not creeds.” That’s who we are alright! And so I ask you to consider taking one small step farther than you have. What if we each increased our involvement by just one step? You won’t be alone, I promise. Our church is growing and is now in a place where we can become a connector between a hurting world and people who want to help. Your ideas and energy may just be what unlocks the next powerful church program.

Look for some new initiatives soon. We hope to have opportunities that are inward-facing and build us up as a church community, and opportunities that open us up and invite us into broader conversation and activism beyond our four walls. Reverend Sydney and your Board are working hard to find ways to honor what we’ve built while looking to the future with hope and reassurance that we as a community can help ease the suffering. Are you willing to make yourself just a little uncomfortable by trying something new if it means we might help this community blossom? I look forward to seeing you this month at a meeting. We can be uncomfortable in the newness together. That’s not so bad, right?

Āmīn, Ashay, and Blessed Be,
Andy

"I speak without reservation from what I know and who I am. I do so with the understanding that all people should have the right to offer their voice to the chorus whether the result is harmony or dissonance, the worldsong is a colorless dirge without the differences that distinguish us, and it is that difference which should be celebrated not condemned..." –Ani DiFranco

Friends, the music ministry is full of enthusiasm and life and plenty of opportunity for you to lend your voice to the chorus. January saw a full-day retreat and workshop for the choir members and some welcome guests. A voice lesson, led by Kristina Jones, a rhythm workshop – complete with Inuit Throat Singing competitions – and an afternoon rehearsal of a new piece, led by the composer, made for a wonderful day of musical exploration.

February brings added opportunities for you to join us, even if you aren't available to make a regular commitment to join one of our choirs. We are going Valentine's Day caroling on Tuesday, February 14, at a local retirement community. We'll meet in the church parking lot at 5:15pm to carpool over and we'll be done about 6:30pm. No experience necessary and no rehearsal required – just show up, grab a caroling book, and join us for a sing-along. You can even bring an instrument if you play one! Email me for more details.

Looking further ahead, we will have an all-comers choir for Easter Sunday, April 16, and anyone who would like to sing is invited to join us. The commitment is for only the three rehearsals prior to Easter and then the Sunday service, and music is available now if you'd like to get a head start.

If you would like to volunteer to help out in the music ministry in a non-musical capacity, please come see me, there are other ways to get involved as well.

In the joy of music,
Camille

It 's Cottage Meeting Time

Periodically, we members of UUCE pause to meet and talk with our minister, Rev. Sydney, and with each other about what it means to be stewards of our church. Fittingly we refer to these gatherings as Cottage Meetings, partly because we meet in each others' homes and also because we seek the warmth and coziness of a small, homey atmosphere.

It's that time again. Your trusty Stewardship Committee has organized a plethora of Cottage Meeting opportunities, each limited to ten participants. Days and times are provided to suit all calendars and situations. They'll be held February 19 through April 1, in the daytime, the evening and on weekends. 19 meeting sites are available—nine in homes and ten in UUCE's Chapel, where childcare will be provided. Home hosts include Judy Shaw, Lauren Bailey, Sally Decou, Berry Broadbent, Gretchen Miller, Ruth Anne Fraley, Jo Victoria, Susan Verner and Lesley Rex. They'll provide decadent desserts and libations to whet the appetite for generous portions of fervor, compassion, and generosity.

Sign up for your own meeting. Throughout February, after each Sunday service a table will be staffed in the lobby to help you select the place and time that's best for you. For more information contact Lesley Rex at rex@umich.edu.

Hoodie-Footie Auction In Action

Pictures of Megan Lawver and Jillian Bircher. Megan purchased this auction item with her own money – a snowshoe trip, from Scott Hovis. She invited her friend Jillian from school and they had a great time!

Auction Success! And the warmth of community lives on ...

Those who attended the Hoodie Footie Services Auction on December 4 offered up and bid energetically on an eclectic array of auction items, raising nearly $11,000 after expenses.

Bountiful provisions of soup, bread, rice and noodles were prepared by a dozen volunteers, and were served up by a dozen others.

Clad in comfy clothes, Rachel Elkins led the auctioneering from a stage resembling a cozy back-woods cabin.

Beautiful desserts of all kinds graced the dessert table, thanks to fifteen more volunteer cooks. Camille Lively led the first-ever group of Dessert Dashers in warm-up calisthenics. Seven-year-old Alex Hoekstra earned the right to run first by recruiting bidders from several surrounding tables, and succeeded at being the first Dessert Dasher to reach the desserts. Her prize: a beautifully decorated, three-tiered cake created by Heather Schantz-Mulford.

A good time was had by all ... and the good times continue! Scott Hovis recently led a snowshoeing adventure for a group ranging in age from 7 to 71. Rob Barnes has already given a primer on mason bees to a few successful bidders for his backyard pollination stations. Jess Hoekstra has been particularly busy: she hosted two gatherings at her home, and also joined both Betty Rutherford and Marie Wiles for lunch at Terpening Terrace.

However, about $700 remains outstanding from successful bids. Not all of the bidding information was entered at the time most people cashed out. If you're someone who recently received a reminder e-mail to pay an additional amount, please take care of it as soon as possible – and send a message to auction2016@uueugene.org if you have any questions.

To all who donated, all who bid, all who attended, and all who helped with set-up, clean-up, data entry, spotting, and serving: our warmest thanks for making the auction such a success!

Health Care For All Oregon Meeting

Tuesday, February 7, 7:00-8:30pm

First United Methodist Church, 13th & Chambers

HCAO meets monthly on the first Tuesday at First United Methodist Church, 13th & Chambers, Eugene. Join us; we'll be presenting plans for upcoming events: On Feb. 13, HCAO will present petitions to the Eugene City Council for a Council resolution to our representatives in Salem stating Eugene/Springfield supports single payer health care for all Oregonians. On Feb. 19, HCAO is offering a showing of "Now is the Time" a film documenting the need for a universal health care system with the producer and director in attendance. Program after services at 12:00 noon Feb. 19. All are welcome and the program is free of charge. Visit the HCAO table in the hall after services each Sunday for more details. HCAO is a sponsored organization of UUCE Justice Network committee. Pat Bitner, 541-485-3971

HEALTH CARE FOR ALL OREGON will present a showing of our latest film on the current state of health care in the United States and the need for a publicly supported, universal health care system for all residents of Oregon and the United States. We are very fortunate in having the attendance of Laurie Simons and Terry Sterrenberg, producer and director of the film as part of the program.

The program will feature a one-half hour version of the Sterrenberg/Simons production, plus an opportunity to hear from them their personal story which led them to make the film. Now is the Time: Healthcare for Everybody shows what has happened to the idea of a Single Payer healthcare system in this country and how to ensure a system that works for everybody.

Plan to remain after services on Sunday, February 19 for the program to be held in the Sanctuary at 12:00 noon. Light refreshments will be served before the program. Everybody welcome. With a new administration whose first priority has been announced as a change in health care policy, Now Is the Time could not be more timely! HCAO is sponsored by the Justice committee of UUCE, Pat Bitner, 541-485-3971, and Kathleen Filip 248-891-9890.

Laurie Simons and Terry Sterrenberg are a married couple of mixed cultural heritage. Laurie is Canadian, and Terry is American. From 1982 to 1992, Terry joined Laurie in Canada and their two sons were born there. When they moved to the United States in 1992, they experienced the culture shock of switching from the worry-free health care system in Canada, to the complicated, expensive, and anxiety-provoking system in the United States.

While pursuing their careers in counseling (Terry's specialty is couples, Laurie's is children with challenging behaviors), they discovered a passion for filmmaking. Laurie completed an Associate Program in Video and TV Production at Bellevue College in 2004, and began creating short films. She and Terry worked together to produce their first feature documentary, The Healthcare Movie (2011). Narrated by Kiefer Sutherland and used by healthcare advocates throughout the U.S., this film revealed the story of the battle for national health care in Canada, and the decades of propaganda that has been prevalent in the U.S. to dissuade the public from supporting national health care.

Then, Terry and Laurie both had their own personal health crises. When the Affordable Care Act (also known as Obamacare) was implemented, they could see that insurance-based healthcare was not effective for keeping costs down and giving everyone access to needed medical care. They saw that polls indicate that the general public supports the idea of national, universal healthcare, yet the idea is still not being addressed in the United States. NOW IS THE TIME: Healthcare for Everybody shows what has happened to the idea of a Single Payer healthcare system in the U.S. and what we can do to ensure a healthcare system that works for everybody.

And here is a description of the film:

The United States pays almost twice as much for healthcare as any other industrialized nation, yet it still does not provide care for all its citizens. While the Affordable Care Act has helped some people, many of us are feeling the pinch of rising costs and narrowing networks. Polls show that 58% of Americans favor a national publicly funded healthcare program. So why has the U.S. Congress not yet passed- or even considered- such a plan? This documentary delves into what single payer healthcare is, how it saves money, and what we can do to make it happen.

Community Offering for February

On February 19, the Community Offering will be given to Beyond Toxics, a Eugene-based advocate for environmental and social justice reforms in Oregon. Both fearless and effective, this 16-year-old nonprofit organization is needed now more than ever.

“Everything that the environmental movement has accomplished in at least the last 30 or 40 years is likely to be attacked,” says John Jordan-Cascade, a Beyond Toxics spokesperson. “We’re going to have to stand together.”

Beyond Toxics is particularly concerned about environmental impacts on low-income and minority communities. It has been involved in everything from reducing air and water pollution to protecting bees from dangerous pesticides. To find out more, see its Facebook page: <https://www.facebook.com/beyondtoxics/> <<https://www.facebook.com/beyondtoxics/>>

And there’s great news. A total of $1,350 was raised in January for Honor the Earth. Many thanks!

Food is Love!

You’re invited to share the love at the Touchstone Tuesday potluck on February 7: bring a person or bring a dish – or both – that you really, really love. All ages are welcome. Together we’ll create interesting company, enjoy delicious food, and celebrate love in all its diversity!

Want some more guidance? This could be your favorite dish, or one that someone special made to show their love for you, or one that you like to make when you think someone needs a little more love in their life.

To help people navigate the many diets followed in our congregation, we’ll have an ingredient card that you can fill out when you arrive. If you prefer, you can download one from the Earth Equity Food Group tab on the UUCE website.

The particulars: Please bring your dish ready to serve. Join us at 5:30 for set-up and grace at 6pm.

Earth EqUUity Food Project: Together, we have provided 100 lunches so far!

UUCE has been given an incredible opportunity to fulfill our collective goal to provide food to those in need. Along with other congregations, we have made a commitment to provide sack lunches for participants in the Eugene Community Court program. This new program aims to address individuals who commit nuisance offenses in the downtown area. Anyone who is either cited into Community Court or who obtains a needs assessment and connects with a service provider is eligible to receive a free lunch. From Sept-Dec 2016, a total of 332 lunches have been provided through local church communities. The need is great and the lunches are much appreciated.

UUCE has committed to provide lunches on the second Friday of each month. Everyone can participate by donating specific food items or helping to make and/or deliver the lunches. Children in the Spirit Jam program decorate the lunch bags and fill them with non-perishable items. On the 2nd Friday, volunteers help make sandwiches and deliver them to the library. This happens from 9-10 a.m. at the church, with delivery to the Eugene downtown library. In order for this church-wide project to be sustainable, we asking everyone to make one (or more if possible) food donation during the year. Sign up to donate specific food items and/or to put together lunches on the second Friday of the month. You can even make cookies or brownies!

Look for more information and sign-up sheets after services. The Earth EqUUity Food project is coordinating this on-going project for the UUCE community. Contact EEFood@uu.eugene.org or call or text Berry at 541-344-9037.

Food for Lane County Food Rescue Night

Thursday February 23 starting at 6:30 p.m.
770 Bailey Hill Rd.

Did you know that Food for Lane County works with 190 partner agencies and distribution sites to distribute 8 million pounds of food per year. This is the equivalent of over 17,000 meals per day. You can help by meeting at the FFLC facility to repackage food donated for those in our community experiencing food insecurity. Wear a hat or ponytail and closed-toed shoes. Volunteers must be 14 or older OR 12 years old accompanied by an adult. Contact person at UUCE is Berry Broadbent at 541-344-9037 or hunger@uueugene.org OR just show up!

Movie Night:
"The Brainwashing of My Dad"
Wednesday, February 8, 7pm, UUCE Chapel.

Do join us for a screening of a documentary about the how right-wing media affects people; and how one family dealt with the situation. We are always asking ourselves..."What can I do?"....and here is one answer! Jen Senko – Director / Producer / Writer will be at the presentation to meet the audience, and to answer your questions. Senko is an award-winning documentary filmmaker based in New York City. Sponsored by Oregon UU Voices for Justice

In February the church brings back a Food Truck for lunch, and now music in the Social Hall. Come to church or SpiritJam and stay for lunch, music, Faith Forward and time with old and new friends!

Thank you to everyone who had input on the first two food truck experiment. As a result, February will include more vegetarian options, compostable containers, music in the Social Hall where it's more available, and more.

For more information, contact office@uueugene.org. See you there!

Our Money

We are now one half (50%) of the way completed the church year from a bookkeeping point of view. So as this is the February Newsletter you will see the information for the close of December. Please note that because your Treasurer has been recovering from pneumonia we are a little behind on some details of the bookkeeping and one should consider these figures as preliminary at this point, essentially some minor changes may occur as we complete the details. January is always a heavy bookkeeping month because of the tax reporting we are required to do by the end of the month as well as our regular work. Being sick does not help. Total income is still running well ahead of the 50% at 80.74% of the budgeted amount, the Christmas Gift appeal made some of that difference. Thank yous to all who donated!! Fundraising has brought in about two thirds of our annual goal but we will still need some additional events to be successfully completed to meet our goals there. An assessment of how our pledges can be expected to finish out the year is be done soon and that will be reported to you with the March newsletter. You can see our Profit and Loss for the first six months of our Fiscal Year below.
